Summit Overview – "Unity Amid Uncertainty"

Hospital and health system leaders are no stranger to change and evolution across healthcare. Yet, the recent speed and scale of change, including major policy shifts in a matter of months, calls on the hospital community to remain united while moving forward. Unity is essential to advancing public policies and new innovations that allow hospitals and health systems to continue their important work to improve healthcare, ensure financial viability and deliver high quality healthcare for generations to come. With growing uncertainty comes unparalleled opportunity. Now is the time to embrace new ways of thinking, unleash the innovative potential of your organization and plot a powerful course forward.

Rising Above the Uncertainties: New Thinking for Illinois Healthcare

Moderator: Shawn P Vincent, Chair, IHA Board of Trustees and President and CEO, Loyola Medicine, Maywood

Panelists: Michelle Conger, President, OSF HealthCare, Peoria; Polly Davenport, DSc, MBA, RN, FACHE, Senior Vice President and Ministry Market Executive, Ascension Illinois, Chicago; Dia Nichols, FACHE, President, Advocate Health Care, Oak Brook; and Kim Uphoff, President and CEO, Sarah Bush Lincoln Health System, Mattoon

Rapid policy shifts, ongoing financial pressures and new technologies that could radically transform healthcare delivery (think AI) are forcing leaders to think and act differently. How can you remain confident, bold and optimistic when our field is being challenged, arguably like never before? The Summit's opening session will feature a no-holds-barred conversation about the future of Illinois healthcare with hospital and health system leaders from across the state. They'll discuss the strategies and mindset needed to remain united as a hospital community and rise above the uncertainties. You'll also hear about the ripple effects of extreme change on care delivery, workforce planning, patient outcomes, investments in communities, and long-term strategic decision-making. This session will set the stage for our focus on unity amid uncertainty and the motivation to keep moving forward.

THE HUMAN MARGIN: BUILDING FOUNDATIONS OF TRUST

Katherine Meese, PhD, Assistant Professor of Health Services Administration, University of Alabama at Birmingham

Discussions of clinician burnout have dominated healthcare in recent years. Yet, fostering a thriving hospital workforce remains one of the steepest mountains for leaders to climb. Truly understanding what's driving burnout and disengagement is key to building a healthy and engaged workforce—from clinicians to professional staff. This highly interactive session will break down decades of research into evidence-based strategies to sustain the healthcare workforce you rely on to deliver high-quality, patient-centered care. You'll learn about the real drivers of turnover and retention, the connection between trust and retention, new rules of transparency and communication, how to counter boredom and burnout, and why autonomy matters to both clinical effectiveness and organizational resilience.

MEMBER INNOVATION SHOWCASE

Belonging at Work: How Loretto Hospital Builds Trust, Recognition and Community

Sherrie A. Spencer, AGNP-BC, Chief Nursing Officer, Loretto Hospital, Chicago

Stacie R. Santangelo, RN, MS, CHFN, CNS-BC, APN, Manager, Professional Development, Loretto Hospital, Chicago

Loretto Hospital's Joy at Work initiative is designed to deepen connection, purpose and safety across the organization. Rooted in direct employee feedback, the program identified key drivers of engagement and introduced relationship-centered strategies, from peer recognition and support to physical and psychological safety in the workplace. This session will spotlight survey design that uncovers what truly matters to staff, visibility and trust in leadership, and engagement efforts that support well-being and foster a strong sense of community. You'll benefit from practical tools and insights into creating a workplace culture where people feel seen, valued, and connected.

Fixing the Bottleneck: Tactics for Safe and Effective Care of Psychiatric Patients

Colleen Calhoun, MSN, RN, CNL, Clinical Manager, Inpatient Behavioral Health, MacNeal Hospital, Berwyn

In the high-pressure environment of emergency departments (EDs), psychiatric patients often face fragmented care and prolonged wait times, leading to worse outcomes and additional strain on hospital resources. This session will introduce MacNeal Hospital's pioneering model of care that prioritizes and streamlines psychiatric patient management in the ED. The model uses a multidisciplinary approach with dedicated psychiatric triage teams, real-time risk assessment tools, and tailored care pathways to achieve timely and effective psychiatric interventions.

Lead the Market You Have: Redefining What's Possible for Rural Health Systems

Brian Burnside, FACHE, President/CEO, Carlinville Area Hospital & Clinics, Carlinville

Carlinville Area Hospital's growth story isn't just impressive, it's replicable. Over five years, the hospital doubled its net patient revenue and dramatically expanded access to care. How can your organization achieve similar results? In this session, you'll hear how the hospital's executive team evaluated market potential, used data to drive strategic investments and expanded care offerings often out of reach for rural hospitals. Their story shows that no matter your hospital's size, resources or starting point, meaningful change is possible.

Partnering with Purpose: A Strategic Approach to Community Health Improvement

Kate Lawler, System Vice President, Community Impact and Engagement, Endeavor Health, Evanston

How can your organization improve health and well-being beyond the hospital walls? Endeavor Health leverages its Community Investment Fund to address critical challenges such as healthcare access, housing instability, food insecurity and workforce development. This session will show you how one health system's innovative partnership models strengthen relationships with community organizations and internal team members. You'll gain practical ideas to align organizational resources for maximum community impact, inspire your teams through meaningful community engagement, and identify strategic opportunities for collective impact—while avoiding common pitfalls along the way.

2:30 – 3:15 p.m.

OVERCOME AND THRIVE: HOW TO OVERCOME OBSTACLES AND WIN THIS FIGHT CALLED LIFE

Justin Wren, Humanitarian, Author, MMA Fighter, Mental Health Advocate, Podcast Host

In the electrifying arena of life, we all step into the ring, donning the gloves of struggle, pain, and adversity. In the face of every challenge, we have a choice to make—a choice to rise, to fight and to overcome. As an MMA fighter, Wren has danced in the octagon, where every second counts and every blow matters. But his toughest fight, his most grueling bout, was not inside those steel cage walls. It was the battle within his own mind, the war against self-doubt, fear and the weight of past failures. In this inspirational closing session, Wren will guide you in fighting for your dreams, your purpose and the meaningful impact only you can create. You'll learn strategies to build resilience, improve emotional well-being, and maintain focus and purpose—essential skills to navigate stress, burnout and high-stakes environments. It's time to transform pain into fuel, setbacks into comebacks, and doubts into unwavering belief.
